FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Mike Smith of Richland County, SC Wins Cash for Code Clunkers Competition for the Month of June

ASHEVILLE, NC – JULY 6, 2010 – BluePrince Software and Services for Community Development, a leading national provider of software for local government, is pleased to announce the Cash for Code Clunkers winner for the month of June. Mike Smith, Housing Official and Residential Inspections Manager for Richland County, SC won the competition by submitting a photograph of the worst code violation he has seen on the job. Mr. Smith has won a $100 donation made in his name and Richland County's name to their local Habitat for Humanity Chapter.

"We are so excited for Richland County winning this month's Cash for Code Clunkers competition" says Lorrie Barnwell, President of BluePrince. "There is no better way to nurture community than to laugh with one another, while also taking an opportunity to give back to the people in our community who really need it."

Visit the BluePrince website, <http://cfc.blueprince.com/> , to learn more about the competition, view all photographs submitted for June, and to submit a photograph of your own. Every jurisdiction is encouraged to participate. All photographs will be added to the BluePrince website. Additionally, a "Worst Code Clunker of the Year" award will be given and a $1000 donation will be made to the jurisdiction's Habitat for Humanity chapter.
