FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FREE ONLINE SERVICES NOW AVAILABLE FROM THE TOWN OF HIGHLAND BUILDING AND INSPECTIONS DEPARTMENT

ASHEVILLE, NC -May 19, 2008 - BUILDERadius, Inc., a leading national provider of permitting and inspections software to building permit authorities, has announced the availability of their BuildingDepartment.com online services in the Town of Highland, IN. This combined with the use of the company's BluePrince software solution will streamline the permitting process for the Town's Building and Inspections Department and its customers.

BuildingDepartment.com is the online portal that allows contractors to apply for permits, schedule inspections, and receive their inspection results in real-time via Internet-enabled computer, cell phone, or PDA. These services are provided free of charge to area contractors through the agreement between the Town and BUILDERadius.

BuildingDepartment.com is set up to work like a project management tool as well. Each Personal ProjectPage will allow a contractor to view all of their active projects and permits. They can request an inspection and see the results in one easy to read web-page. This opens the virtual doors of the building department 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

BluePrince, the jurisdiction side of BuildingDepartment.com, simplifies the permitting clerk's job, making the process quicker and more efficient, and streamlines the process for inspectors who immediately post results from the field back to the department.

"We have a tool that delivers real value to local builders and to Building Departments of any size by dramatically increasing permitting and inspection efficiencies for any jurisdiction," said Bill Ward, CEO and President of BUILDERadius. "Our customers are delighted with the software, which increases both the thoroughness and number of daily building inspections performed."
