BUILDERADIUS, INC. HONORED WITH WILL TURRENTINE AWARD BY THE BUILDING OFFICIALS ASSOCIATION OF SOUTH CAROLINA

NORTH MYRTLE BEACH, SC – May 1, 2007 - BUILDERadius, Inc. was honored with the Will Turrentine Award by the Building Officials Association of South Carolina (BOASC) during their 56th Annual Educational Conference. The Will Turrentine Award (Formerly the Associate of the Year Award) is given annually to vendors who have exhibited exemplary support of BOASC. BUILDERadius received the award for their continuous commitment and support of the association and for their software service, BluePrince.

Dan Kenny, Director of Sales for BUILDERadius was on hand to accept the award. “We have worked hard to offer every jurisdiction in South Carolina an affordable, cutting-edge Community Development Software along with superior customer support” stated Kenney, “ and we are very honored to accept this award.”

“We have been using BluePrince for four years in North Charleston and have been impressed with the responsiveness and dedication to serving our needs” said Darbis Briggman, CBO of North Charleston and President of BOASC.

BUILDERadius has established a presence throughout South Carolina by fostering relationships with several of the largest jurisdictions. Many of these cities were early adopters of BluePrince and continue to use the software to electronically issue permits, schedule and record inspections, track licensing information and communicate with the building community. Such cities and counties include Charleston, North Charleston, Columbia, Richland County and York County. In addition, BUILDERadius was bestowed the honor of assisting the City of Tega Cay with constructing their building department.

About BOASC:

The Building Officials Association of South Carolina was founded on February 26, 1951 and was the inaugural organization in the southern United States. South Carolina was the only state in the Union where a building officials organization was established as an integral part of the Municipal Association. The first annual meeting was attended by sixteen officials who addressed mutual building problems and pledged to organize, train and equip the membership with means to provide the best service to the citizens and their respective cities.
